

PLACE OF STUDENT GOVERNMENT IN SHAPING LEADERSHIP QUALITIES IN FUTURE LEADER

Semanchyna V.O.,

Postgraduate Student
Universitywide Department of Pedagogy,
Psychology and Educational Management
Kherson State University

The purpose of the article is to disclose the concepts of “student government”, “leader” and “leadership”; identify the main tasks and functions of the student team; highlight the impact of student government on leadership qualities of the future head of the institution.

The author suggests the following definitions of the mentioned concepts.

Leadership is the type of administrative cooperation, which is based on more effective for this situation combination of different sources of power and aimed at encouraging people to achieve common goals.

Leader is a person who is generally respected by a group, able to listen and to lead people.

Today, student government plays a significant role in defending the rights and interests of students, fosters their leadership skills, and organizes rational leisure of the youth.

Student government is the environment, which educates the future leader. It is an important factor that aims to ensure that students perform their own duties and are responsible for the assigned work, increasing social activity of young people and affecting the formation of social position, education of spirituality and culture, ensuring the harmonious development of personality.